

Trauma Narratives with Inner City Youth

Winter-Spring 2018 Trainings

Every person has a story. Every story includes narratives of pain and suffering as well as narratives of strength and resilience. Storiez supports trauma survivors as they create, voice, and honor their life narratives and process emotions and experiences connected to those experiences. Participants in these trainings will learn the foundational theory behind the trauma-informed Storiez interventions and will walk away with clear, specific strategies to implement when working with youth.

Pre-Requisites: For therapist trainings, participants should be master's level clinicians or master's level clinicians-in-training with previous knowledge and experience in trauma-based interventions. DIY Storiez trainings are targeted toward individuals with experience working with traumatized populations (teachers, parents, community leaders, etc.) but who are not necessarily trained as therapists. DIY Storiez trainings do not require any previous knowledge/experience; individuals from a broad range of backgrounds are welcome to participate. Feelingz trainings are geared toward adults and youth who are interested in learning more about the function of feelings and building healthy strategies for expressing and managing feelings. No background knowledge is required for this training.
